Israeli Settler Stabs Palestinian Ali Harb in his Heart to Death, in the Village of Iskaka- Salfit

On Tuesday, 21 June 2022, at around 6:00 am, Israeli settler stabbed to death the Palestinian man Ali Harb, 27, with a knife in his heart in the village of Iskaka near Salfit. In this day and while Ali, his brothers and cousins were sitting in their house yard, his father received a phone call from one of the shepherds informing him that a group of settlers arrived to his own land located in Al-Jabal area next to Ariel Settlement. Settlers were apparently attempting to establish a structure in the place. Ten Palestinian men have arrived to the location and started yelling at the settlers and said “leave, leave, go out of our lands”. At this moment, settlers started to step back closer to the fence of Ariel Settlement, while yelling at Palestinians in unclear Hebrew. After a few minutes, an armed settler with a civilian attire arrived to the place with a white Tender car, Palestinian men in the place assumed he was one of the settlement guards. He started speaking in English with Ali who told him that these settlers are working in his family’s own lands and they have to leave. The settler responded that the Israeli soldiers will come and take them out. Meanwhile, an Israeli police force arrived to the place, with their weapons drawn, and opened fire in the air, until they approached the place where Ali and his cousins; Zaid and Amjad, were standing. Zaid describes the killing of Ali as follows:

“Israeli Police and security force approached us; me, Ali and Amjad, while we were standing in our land; Ali was standing to my left side with Amjad to the right. I noticed one of the settlers walking quickly towards us, he was about 90 meters away then came to ten meters close to us when he started throwing stones. This happened in front of the soldiers who did nothing to stop him from attacking us. While throwing the stones, the settler was yelling at us but we did not understand what he was saying. Then he came closer to us, about three or four meters away, and he was putting his hand on his right side as if he attempted to take something out to scare us. When he came closer to us, about two meters away, he took out a 20 cm-long knife and stabbed Ali with it. When I tried to hold his hand to prevent him from stabbing Ali and to push him back, I was attacked by another settler, who was about two meters away. The settler stabbed Ali with the knife under his left arm, who fell on the ground. Following this stabbing, the settler fled towards the group of settlers but the soldiers did not follow him. This specific settler had a short beard, was wearing an army-green pants and a black shirt that covered the upper part of his pants, putting on a hat (similar to the one that construction workers usually wear) and a black glove in his left hand. He was of average height and build. The Israeli soldiers prevented other Palestinians from helping Ali while he was injured and laying in his blood. Firas Harb, Ali’s cousin, reported that “I saw Ali falling on the ground and I tried to help him after Zaid and Anas started shouting ‘Ali is stabbed, Ali is stabbed’, but one of the soldiers, with civilian attire and a blue shirt, kept pointing his weapon towards my head and shouting on me whenever I attempted to approach Ali. The soldiers did not help him in any way and prevented us from helping him as well. After about ten minutes, Anas and Zaid Harb were able to carry Ali and transfer him near other Palestinians in the place, who carried him hundreds of meters in the mountains while he was a dead body, until they arrived to the main road and the ambulance that took him to Yassir Arafat hospital in Salfit where he was pronounced dead after half an hour of his arrival.

It is worth mentioning that Ali Harb had four brothers and one sister and he is the oldest among them. He graduated from Al-Quds/ Abu Dis University where he obtained his Bachelor's degree in electronic engineering in 2018. Following his graduation, Ali did not find a job in engineering so he worked in constructions for a while, then he worked as machine- maintenance engineer but he left this job about three weeks before the settler killed him.

During the time that followed his graduation, Ali was learning the English language and got many certificates in it as he was looking for a scholarship to do his MA in engineering in Germany. According to his brother's affidavit, Ali was an experienced player of chess and other games that require high mental concentration. About six months ago, he was ranked second in a chess competition at the level of Salfit governorate. Moreover, he has previously obtained several advanced ranks in many local chess competitions. Ali was a big dreamer who wanted to achieve a lot during his lifetime but the settler violence stole all his dreams.
